DIRECT PRIMARY LAW

(Communication)

West Paris, Me., October 10th, 1927.

Editor Norway Advertiser: I wish to answer the article reprinted from the Editor's column in your issue of October 10th, 1927, regarding the direct primary law. I am a resident of this town and have been a member of the town meeting for many years. I am a supporter of the direct primary law and believe it is the best method of electing our representatives to the legislature.

The men that the political organization have tried to nominate for office against what was proven unmistakably to be the will of the people, have been those men that were well understood to favor the giving away to our great water powers. Therefore they did not represent the wishes of the people and the people have elected them. It is the representative government for a representative to the legislature that we have elected. It is the representative government for a representative to the legislature that we have elected. It is the representative government for a representative to the legislature that we have elected.

Here we have the same difference of opinion of representative government that existed between Abraham Lincoln and William Howard Taft. Lincoln's views were embodied in his immortal declaration for "Government of the people, by the people, and for the people." William Howard Taft remodeled it to suit his views when he declared for "Government of the people by a representative part of the people." He reserving the right to choose (with those who thought as he did) the people who he chose to call "a representative part of the people."

The people indicated their preference when Mr. Taft only carried Vermont and Utah in his second presidential campaign. No doubt we have in this state men that are the equal of any of the men Mr. Harvey refers to as superior to any of the present time.

Why do not the political organizations take the great business that backs them place them before the people in the direct primary?

The answer is that such men would not do the things that you want done.

—R. L. Cummings.

SOUTH PARIS—ELM HILL

(Communication)

The Elm Hill Community Club met with Helen Briggs, Oct. 8, with seven members present. Refreshments of sandwiches, popcorn, fancy cookies and fudge were served. The next meeting will be with Mrs. Frank Marston of Augusta, has been spending several days with her daughter, Mrs. James Combelack. A sister-in-law of Mrs. Adams came to see Mrs. Adams and her family. Mrs. Adams moved her family to the farm recently purchased of Miss Edna Swan.

Mrs. and Mr. James Combelack attended the get-together of the Sons of Veterans and Auxiliary at Brighton, Saturday night. About forty went from So. Paris and Norway.

Mary Colby, Shirley Decester and Martha Briggs attended the county meeting of the 4th Clubs at Norway, Tuesday.

Mrs. and Mr. W. B. Decester entertained the E. H. C. Club and families at a "weenie" roost, Saturday evening.

FRYEBURG—FISH STREET
Roy Goodwill has his house wired for electric lights.

"Fair" is over and people are once more settled to their fall work.

Flourace Baker and Mabel Charles are labelling in the Fryeburg Center factory.

Mrs. and Mr. Marston Charles visited Mrs. Charles' relatives in Berlin and Milan, over the week end.

Evelyn Baker, who has been going to and from school with the Gupit boys, is staying out to Fryeburg with Mrs. Reba Craig.

Clarence Kimball has been getting his cattle home from pasture.

Mrs. and Mr. Elmer Baker drove to Coos, Friday afternoon, to bring their daughter, Esther, home for the week end. Electricians are calling on residents of this section for wiring jobs.

Elmer Baker is working on the road for Charles Gray, at present.

Resurfacing the Race Track

The track of the Oxford County Agricultural Society is being raised four inches and leveled with loam from Charles Friede's meadow on Cottage Street extension.

The upper and lower turns will be raised over the general level one-fourth inch to the foot, and the home stretch widened to 2 1/2 feet, making this part 43 feet between fences.

Work is expected to be completed before the ground freezes and the whole course will be covered with manure and straw for protection during the winter.

It is believed one of the fastest half-mile rings in the State will be the result.

A. L. Wyman is superintending the work that is following the advice and plans of an expert track builder who was here a few days to start the work.

CLEANING LAMP REFLECTORS

Lampblack, a soft black powder which can be purchased at any drug or hardware store, is excellent to clean lamp re-flectors. A little lampblack on a soft cloth rubbed over the surface of the reflector, will quickly restore its brilliancy.

Rub with a circular motion. It will not scratch, and at the same time it leaves a certain film on the surface that prevents furthering.

STATE OF MAINE

Oxford, ss. To the Honorable Justices of the Supreme Judicial Court to be held at Paris, within and for said County of Oxford, the second Tuesday of February, A. D. 1928.

Respectfully Represents, Edith Pearl Ames,

resident at Ramford, in the County of Oxford and State of Maine, that she was lawfully married to William A. Wolcott, of Paris, in the County of Oxford and State of Maine on the eighth day of March, A. D. 1924, by Rev.

Charles George Miller, Minister at Law, duly authorized to solemnize marriages therein;

That the Libellant resided in this State when the cause of divorce accrued as hereinafter set forth:

That the Libellant has resided in this State in good faith for one year prior to the commencement of these proceedings;

That the Libellant has ever been faithful to her marriage obligations, but that the said

Libellee has been unfaithful to the Libellant and cannot be ascertained by reasonable diligence.

That there is no collusion between your Libellant and the said Libellee to obtain a divorce.

That on or about the fifteenth day of June,

A. D. 1924, said Libellant voluntarily deserted your Libellee without reasonable cause and has continued said desertion for three consecutive years next prior to the filing of this libel.

That being of sufficient ability and being able to labor and provide for her said Libellant, wantonly and cruelly refuses or neglects to provide suitable maintenance for your Libellant.

That no children have been born to them during their said marriage.

Wherefore, your Libellant prays that a divorce from the bonds of matrimony between herself and the said Libellee may be decreed.

And your Libellant further alleges that the residence of said Libellee is unknown to your Libellant and cannot be ascertained by reasonable diligence.

Dated at Norway this eighth day of October,

A. D. 1927.

BESSIE A. WOLCOTT, Libellant.

Oxford, ss. Now, October 8th, A. D. 1927.

Personally appeared Edith Pearl Ames, above named Libellant, and made oath that the foregoing allegations as to the residence of the Libellee is true.

World's Fair Attracted Crowds

North Waterford the Center of the Unit. Saturday. Best Exhibits in the Hall. Estimated Attendance, 7,000.

What is believed to be the largest crowd in the history of the World's Fair, gathered at 7 o'clock crowded onto the village green and adjacent squares on north Waterford, Saturday. One thousand automobiles were parked along the highway in door yards and in a field near the church, and for that purpose. It seemed as if everybody was there from somewhere down to baby Sam and the family dog. They came from remote places and in the excitement of the fair, the town for years has held a unique place in the amusement world, and for several decades has never been duplicated. There have been many imitations but the World's Fair holds its own and thus far has escaped the punch of modernism. It refuses to be spelled down.

Generally the show started Friday. It was the second day when concession stands, side shows, and rides shaped up in the square like a magic city. Hall exhibits were brought in and placed by the fair officials. Everything was in the way of preparation of the following day. There wasn't much doing in the way of visitors and pulling oxen in the afternoon when about all the excitement was over. The fair was in the grange hall at night. A few old timers anxious to limit the number of joints for the evening and for the following day. The weather man kindly sent rain during the night and delivered Saturday. Typical October conditions with crisp air tempered by warm sunshine.

For cold drinks, but the hot-dog vendors sold and waxed eloquent. All approaches to the village were guarded by special officers wearing shiny uniforms. They sold little blue tags that are a source of income which make possible this almost unique show. A new scheme this year was ticket offices at the village. Ticket prices where courteous officials smilingly handed out the little tags in a most efficient manner. Only a few refused to "come across" it is said.

Happy Land
The ever present midway occupied both sides of a main highway and extended the length of the village common. About everything that has been following the fair was doing business on this two-acre tract.

Three rides entertained the children from six to sixty. There was Chute's merry-go-round, a ferris wheel, and a "Tommy's" chair. All drew good business from great grand parents down to the fourth generation. Something was wrong in the village on the rides. The big wheel on the rides is not as much as the thrill of being whirled and whirled about for ten minutes without getting anywhere.

Three side shows played up their stuff in pictorial banners and balloons. Horace Truman's athletic arena pulled big business and was the great attraction of the fair. The crowd inside meant anything. Truman had a bunch of wrestlers who were out for blood. That's what he told the crowd that swarmed around the arena during his heart rendering spool. Sunday the story made a hit and he filled his tent to overflowing for every performance.

Just across the midway from Truman's was a small-scale company and a so-called Egyptian museum said to date to King Tut's heyday. Singing, dancing and acrobatics were performed to harmonica accompaniment. Way down the pike on a side street was the Zoological Garden containing snakes and a few animals. Near aerial groanings of the artificial safety tempted the audacious to part with a dime. Two ponies and a jack provided rides for the children.

Games in every hand tempted the gamblers. There were chess, with rings and balls; hammers for high strikers or peeling nails in wooden blocks. The weight guessers were there together with the bean games, knock down the kettles or milk bottles; shoot-rings-til-you-win, and the blanket man. Toy balloons and acrobatic canes were popular as ever.

Hidden Stanley from Old Orchard, and other paladins familiar at the fairs gave stings to a liberal patronage mostly women. Harry Isaacson of Auburn, had a large line of men's fall clothes, including and several pieces were in operation for the sale of shoes. Vendors of hats, the cement, fountain pens, glass cases, and can openers abounded. Alton C. Maxine South Paris, and others, demonstrated automobiles. Several farm lighting plants and water pressure systems had a place on the fun trail.

Heavy Down, a familiar figure at cattle shows the past forty years, operated a high striker. Prosperity was stamped all over his face.

Some distance from the center of activities and near the school house was located Benson's Lone Star Wild West. Shooting, broncho busting, fancy shooting and other stunts familiar in Texas and the west were given by a troupe led by Harry Benson. His associate performers were Marcus Strother, Harry Chapman, and "Bud" Giddings. Mrs. Edith Maxine, who has been on the show since the time of August, presided at the entrance. The outfit has played at Canton, Bluehill, Monroe, Monroville, New Gloucester, East Grinstead, Fryeburg and closes the season at Topsham. Business has been good.

Dancing and Pictorial
Waterford Grange had the monopoly of dancing in the village and held open house in the grange hall every afternoon and evening. Newell Andrews' orchestra furnished the music which featured extra or old fashioned tunes dear to the hearts of the sedate and steady going farmers. Newell played the violin and was leader. Charles Andrews was also violinist. Jennie Andrews was at the piano. Fred M. Davis of Auburn, twanged the banjo. Bernard Rolfe of West Bethel, played sax, and B. W. Rice tapped the drums.

Deacons hankering for straight jazz, journeyed to Robinson's Pavilion at Fryeburg where Smith's Romanians provided the latest popular syncopation. Saturday night's business was almost a record breaker.

As the Oddfellows were not in the market for dancing as has been their custom, this hall was used for movies by H. M. Brigham, a prominent feature, comedies, and news reels were shown.

Feeding the Multitude
For many years the Congregational vestry has served the purpose of a large hall with the Ladies' Circle and a host of friends from other towns putting out long up dinners and suppers. The parish depends to a large extent on the income derived at this fair, therefore public patronage is large, because denominational differences are forgotten in the desire to assist in a community enterprise that means a whole lot. Charles A. Hines sold tickets at the door. So many years has he handled money on this job that he has the exact date of his entrance into the game. His wife presided along with Mr. and Mrs. Saunders and scores of other willing workers. The "dinner" section is a long line of the ladies in "shifts". Some look after affairs about the vestry, others are baking things at home and so the work goes on in a methodical way to collect a revenue of several hundred dollars for preaching and church expenses.

Pullins
The largest crowd in years gathered along the highway near the church for the classic that brought together several teams in close competition. Ropes were no need to this hint and swarmed around the teams. This rushing the game hindered the teams and caused numerous complaints from owners and drivers. A suggestion was given by some one in the crowd, that hereafter special officers be delegated to keep order along the line and hold spectators where they belong. The committee estimated the loads in each class to be 2 pounds rock to 1 pound of horse. The actual load was said to be a trifle less than rule owing to hard pulling.

The feature act was connected with Thomas Westleigh's team which was the fourth to pull in the 2800 and under. Mr. Westleigh and a spectator mixed up things verbally in a heated argument which continued down the road after the event. Naturally a crowd gathered around the spokesmen but no lives were lost. George A. Stevens of Waterford held the tape measure and kept the records.

Results of the horse pulling:
2800 class: Elmer Thoms, Harrison, 105 feet, 7 inches. W. A. Hersey, Waterford, 76 feet, 11 inches.
2500 class and under: Thomas Westleigh, West Bethel, 81 feet, 6 inches. A. T. Fraser, Fryeburg, 9 feet, 6 inches. W. A. Hersey, Waterford, 2 feet 2 inches. Carl Perry, Norway, 1 foot, 3 inches.
3000 Class: Thomas Westleigh, 29 feet, 3 inches. A. T. Fraser, 6 feet, 2 inches. Free-for-all—James G. Chaddburne, North Bridgton, 114 feet. Roy Jones, North Fryeburg, 113 feet, 4 inches. Load in this case was 4,460 pounds.

HALL EXHIBITS
The dining room at the Grange Hall was just packed solid with exhibits from every department of the fair. Favorable comments on the number, quality and neat arrangement of the articles were heard on all sides. Competent judges placed the exhibition size considered on par with some of the large fairs held this fall. About everything in the vegetable and fruit line was represented together with samples of butter, cooking needles, work and rug weaving. Chas. D. Morse was in charge of affairs and constantly on hand to explain exhibits not familiar to the novice.

Waterford Grange
Waterford's show was presented on shelves in front of a back ground of drawn and braided rugs. A large show case contained home cooked food, eggs, butter, bees honey in comb, and a real black chicken due to a turn. On the shelves were many samples of shell beans, corn, vegetables, fruit and preserves. There were rosy apples, large pumpkins and squashes, cauliflower, traces of corn, and a handsome arrangement of dahlias, asters and asters. A mounted deer stood guard of the extreme end of the exhibit.

Albany Grange
Albany Grange used rugs and quilts for a setting with a nice display on long tables. Apples, quinces, rhubarb and a general assortment of vegetables covered much space. A plate of Tom Thumb products, comprising corn, beans, squash, vegetables, fruit and preserves, was a mineral producing town was brought to the attention by a collection of beryl, crystals, mica, Feldspar, smoky quartz taken from the Feldspar mine on the J. W. Cummings' farm. Leon Kimball had specimens of quartz, clear as crystal and other samples of the variety. There was a tempting display of canned goods and some fine fall blooms in the flower display.

General Exhibits
Along the rear of the hall was a large display of needlework and crocheted pieces done by Mrs. Evelyn Miller. There was fancy work by Louise L. Hersey, Maybelle Hersey.

Waterford, had an attractive display of needle work by Isabelle Jones, aged 13, showed twelve pieces of fancy crocheted work. Ella Elizabeth Rice, aged 19, displayed her talent with a needle with holders and other articles. Other exhibitors in this class were Edith Hobson (aged 6), and Della M. Lord. Dr. W. A. Hersey, North Waterford, was the work of Annie Hazleton of Waterford.

A large hand painted nature scene on a fungus of unusual size was the work of Blanche Button. Near by was a neatly executed oil painting by Mrs. Herbert Dean. John Adams had a collection of hand made wooden knives forks and spoons. The antiques owned by C. D. Morse included an old time bear trap, powder horn, candle snuffer and other articles. A section of a poplar tree, gnawed off by beaver was interesting. This specimen was found at Kezar Lake in the year, 1900.

Farm Products
Many shelves in the middle of the hall were loaded with farm products and cut flowers. In the displays, Edwin Allen of Stoneham, won first prize with his collection of cabbages, carrots, corn and other vegetables to the number of twenty kinds. Something novel was Japanese millet, standing five feet tall. He harvested from 1-2 acre he would harvest one and from 1-2 tons. This is an excellent feed for cows.

Charles D. Morse, Waterford, was given second prize with his display of farm products in which shell beans, cukes, pumpkins, potatoes, squashes, and beets predominated.

Apparently frost had not reached upland farms for large collections of cuttings and flowers were shown by Mrs. Everett Bradford, Mrs. C. A. Hersey, Mrs. Grace Kimball and Mrs. J. Dresser, who had five vases of perfect blossoms. Roy G. Wardwell had a Florida bean in full bloom. This produced a long beam with a spike-like arrangement of fruit, near the base, surmounted with purple blossoms.

For the canned goods display, Mrs. W. F. Pillsbury carried away first honors. Blanche Button secured second prize. In the display of fruit mostly apples and pears, Charles Hersey ranked first, C. E. Allen, East Stoneham, had 13 plates and won second place, and Lydia Shedd with a large variety including grapes and cranberries was awarded the third premium.

School Work
The North Waterford Primary, Marion Rowe, teacher, offered an interesting display of drawing work, written exercises, free hand drawing and cut-outs. The tots had loose leaf books showing originality in arranging single pictures into groups and scenes. This work can not be over emphasized as the fair and more schools should enter displays, not in competition but in friendly comparison and to show parents the constructive work in the grades.

Cattle and Horses
Hitched on the fence along the road side near the church and quartered in the horse sheds was the usual display of cattle. Sheep and lambs were shown by C. A. Hersey, Leslie Jones, Mrs. G. H. Rice, and C. S. Hamlin.

Matched yearling and two-year old steers were the property of P. H. Fogg and R. E. Allard. Two year old bulls were exhibited by C. A. Hersey and Leslie Jones. Ernest Wentworth won the premium for the best all-purpose oxen. Year old heifers were shown by Arthur Pitts and George Rice. Arthur Pitts also exhibited a farm herd and dairy cow. Harrison won first prize with oxen in a town team.

Poultry
This exhibit was in coops near the Grange Hall. Lord's Poultry Farm, No. Waterford featured White Wyandottes. One pair had eleven birds and a yearling cock and hen, and a cockerel, were shown in separate coops. Chas. A. Fillebrown showed Japanese Silkies; Stan. Lord had speckled roosters and Donald Brown offered Buff Cochins.

World's Fair Sidelights
Miss Hazel Bicknell of the Fashion Shop, Norway, had space in the entrance to the hall where she displayed the latest models in hats. Marjorie May was her assistant. Inside the hall, space not covered by exhibits was given over to salespeople handling jewelry and fancy embroidery.

Arthur Saunders was traffic cop at Perkins Store Corner with a number of assistants stationed at points where convenience might occur. Frederick Marshall Davis, fiddler, and vaudeville artist of Auburn, played banjo in Newell Andrews' orchestra. Fred is appearing in movie houses and grange entertainments doing a musical act with three instruments and cracking original jokes. He said business is good for a full time job.

W. O. Bancroft, aged 80 years of Mechanic Falls, was taking in everything on the grounds. He was visiting with his sons before they made a trip to Stoneham, where the father had not been for seventy years and found many changes since the days of his youth. Mr. Bancroft was born in Norway, he lived in Stoneham and for forty years worked in the paper mill at Mechanic Falls for C. O. Denison.

"What are we to do with automobiles?" is a question troubling the committee. Parking has reached the point of saturation. Some one has estimated that 1000 cars are parked in a small radius of the grounds. The field acquired for parking is already crowded and North Waterford will in time not hold the Legislature high brow relatives that bring folks to the show.

Electric offices are an innovation and convenient. When tagging outsiders for a quarter commenced three years ago, wise ones predicted the fair would be wrecked. Somehow folks appear to like it and cheerfully hand over the two bits. The revenue means a lot for a large part of the $900 expenses go into premiums, labor and incidentals bearing directly on the prosperity of Waterford and adjoining towns.

North Waterford has a running-mate to the Weary Club at Norway. According to G. W. Bancroft, it is the "Liar" Club which is in session through the winter at one of the stores. Mr. Bancroft is a member and said to be quite active. As a sample of the goods, he told the writer about heavy cream on his farm. Six pails of water are given to the cows to dilute the mixture before one drop of milk will flow he said. Hope we have a rainy season to save the cows.

HEBRON
Albion K. P. Cushman. The death of Albion K. P. Cushman occurred at his home here, Saturday, Oct. 1, when he committed suicide by shooting. Mr. Cushman had been a cripple for several years and despondency over his ill health is thought to have caused the act. Mr. Cushman was born in Hebron, February 11, 1870, the son of Samuel P. and Mary B. Cushman and since his parents' death had lived alone on the home place. He is survived by a brother, Hartley P. Cushman of Auburn, a nephew, Dwight C. Cushman, Hebron, and two nieces, Mrs. C. H. Munce, So. Paris, and Mrs. Eric Berg, Hebron Academy.

Slowing Up?
Waste Poisons in the Blood Make One Tired and Inefficient.
DO you rise lame and stiff? Drag through the day, listless and depressed? Evening find you all worn out? Have you given any thought to your kidneys? Sluggish kidneys allow waste poisons to remain in the blood and make one tired and languid with often nagging backache, drowsy headaches and dizziness. A common warning of sluggish kidney action is scanty or burning secretions. Assist the kidneys with Doan's Pills. Doan's have been used since time immemorial to cleanse the country over. Ask your neighbor!

FACTS
-AND THE OPEN MIND
THE MOST important element in business success—and the most difficult—is to be sure that you have all the facts before you act.

TO GET them all, from every possible source, is the first objective in General Motors. The Research Laboratories contribute some. These are nuggets, left in the crucible, after hundreds of ideas that looked good have been burned away. The Proving Ground contributes others. Dealers contribute. The public contributes. Every department contributes. Through the whole organization runs a spirit of inquiry and of rigid insistence on proof.

OUT of such thinking come the new models announced from time to time by Chevrolet, Pontiac, Oldsmobile, Oakland, Buick, LaSalle, Cadillac—all with Fisher Bodies. And by Frigidaire. Each new model is a tested step forward. Nothing goes into it as a result of habit or guess or pride of opinion.

Nothing counts but hard-won facts, gathered and used with an open mind.
